This is a highly detailed topographic map of the Bratislava region in Slovakia and the adjacent Fertő-Hanság National Park in Hungary. The map is oriented with North at the top. It features a coordinate grid with letters A through N along the vertical axis and numbers 1 through 18 along the horizontal axis. A scale bar in the top left corner indicates a scale of 1:100,000, with a 5 km distance marked. The Danube River (Dunajský národný park) is a central feature, flowing from the northwest towards the southeast. Major cities and towns are labeled, including Bratislava, Senec, Galanta, Dunajská Streda, and Komárno. The map shows various geographical features such as forests, fields, and water bodies. It also includes numerous smaller labels for villages, roads, and specific landmarks. The map is a technical drawing with a high level of detail, showing individual buildings, roads, and natural features. The colors used are primarily green for land, blue for water, and brown for roads and infrastructure. The map is a valuable resource for anyone interested in the geography of the Bratislava region.
